My Philosophy

As a Peer Advisor, my philosophy is to ask as many questions as possible so that I can offer the necessary information a student may need to pinpoint and map out their goals. I strive to practice patience and empathy as each student is at a different point on their journey.

My Mission

My mission is to serve as a resource for Cameron School of Business students to ease any difficulties during college. Through knowledge of class options, extracurricular opportunities, study skills, and more, I want to encourage them to pursue opportunities that can help them reach their long-term goals and have an enjoyable college experience.

Tips for Academic Success

1. Interact with professors as much as possible. - Professors do their job because they enjoy helping students and seeing them succeed. Whether you need help with a specific practice problem or are curious about what a career in a specific field could look like for you, send them an email and set up an appointment!
2. Attend class every day. - Going to class every day makes it easier to stay on pace with your classes and recognize if you do not understand content. It also gets you out of bed in the morning to get the day going.
3. Study a little, often. - Instead of waiting the night or a few days before an exam, as the class moves through content throughout the semester, study for 30 minutes every day so that when it comes time for an exam, you already know most of the information. This can take away a lot of test anxiety and result in better long-term info retention.
