

Honors College

Tips for Future Advisors

OVERVIEW

UNCW's Honors College provides opportunities for undergraduates to engage in independent and creative scholarly activity. The Honors College directs the four-year Honors curriculum and Departmental Honors, offers opportunities to develop a global perspective, supports undergraduate research for all UNCW undergraduates, and mentors UNCW students through the application process for national scholarships and fellowships.

HONORS
— COLLEGE —

FACTS

Honors College Peer Advisors:

- Alexsana Light-
adl4254@uncw.edu
- Ashley Sexton - ars8270@uncw.edu

Honors College Professional Advisor:

- Ms. Rebecca Stultz. She has drop-in hours multiple times a week.

Most classes that are offered to honors students are not offered to non-honors students.

- Some peer advisors may be confused when they see these Honors classes/credits/requirements.
- The peer advisor should recommend that the student reach out to their Honors Peer Advisors and Professional Advisor if they have an Honors related question.

If anyone has any questions about Honors, they should:

- Go to Honors College website
- Email Dr. Shawn Bingham, Director of the Honors College - binghams@uncw.edu